There are a large number of parties in the world, each with factional factions and differences of opinion, but the Korean Labor Party does not know such phenomena.

This is because leader Kim Jong Il has achieved the party's unity and cohesion both organizationally and ideologically, on the basis of the Juche idea and comradely love. When the Korean peninsula was in its worst condition on the eve of war, due to the uproar of the forces hostile to nuclear inspection in the nineties of the last century, the commander inflicted a severe blow on the hostile forces by declaring the impact of the bomb, announcing the withdrawal from the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons, and causing cracks in the The outdated international order based on the "superiority of power". Thanks to the resolute will of the leader, it has become an issue of concern to the world, explaining that independent politics does not know surrender.

Under his guidance, the cause of world peace was able to move forward vigorously throughout the course of independence.

Also, the issue of national unification, which was the wish of the great leader, comrade Kim Il Sung, which he sought to achieve throughout his life, as the greatest thing that grieved his heart was the pain of our nation for the splitting of the country. A united country. Therefore, achieving the unification of the homeland in fulfillment of its lofty goals is a revolutionary duty, a moral task imposed on our party and people, and a sacred national duty placed upon our generation.
